New Calls for Strikes Appear Imminent As Tension Mounts in Industrial Strife

OVER MILLION MAY BE IDLE WITHIN MONTH

Fresh Troubles Appear As Conciliators and Other Officials Work to Bring Labor Peace

400,000 OFF JOBS

By the Associated Press
New calls for strikes appeared imminent today as tension mounted in the nation's industrial strife. As President Truman urged the American people to press congress into action on legislation aimed to curb wage stoppages, additional thousands of workers were added to the list of idle because of labor disputes.

New walkouts, hitting at four major industries and involving nearly a million and a half persons, threatened to materialize during January.

The number of workers idle jumped past the 400,000 mark as President Truman in a radio address last night expressed deep concern over the nation's labor unrest.

Fresh troubles appeared as government conciliators and other officials in Washington worked to bring an end to current disputes and to prevent outbreak of impending strikes.

In Chicago, the CIO farm equipment and metal workers' union said wage negotiations with the International Harvester Company had collapsed and that "in all likelihood" a strike of 30,000 would be called. Union members in 11 Harvester plants arranged a meeting Sunday to set a date for the walkout.

In another wage controversy, the CIO Mine Mill and Smelter Workers union in Salt Lake City called a strike for Jan. 21 affecting about 5,000 of its Utah members.

In Akron, O., the CIO-United Rubber Workers local at Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., planned a strike vote Sunday by about 12,000 union members only and a similar vote was called by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., local Jan. 13.

Meanwhile, the possibility remained of a nation wide walkout of telephone workers, in sympathy with a strike started yesterday by 17,200 employees of the Western Electric Company in 21 plants in (Turn to Page Eleven)

BULLETINS

Cotestville, Jan. 4.—(P)—Three men were seriously hurt today when the burning truck trailer in which they were riding crashed into the rear of a Short Line bus carrying 25 passengers enroute to Westchester. No one on the bus was injured.

Seoul, Jan. 4.—(P)—With leaders urging support of the decisions at Moscow, tens of thousands of Koreans staged a huge mass meeting and parade through wintery Seoul yesterday, shouting support of the leftist "people's republic."

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—President Truman today accepted the resignation of Vice Admiral Emory S. Land as chairman of the Maritime Commission and War Shipping Administrator, effective January 15. An exchange of correspondence made public by the White House showed that Land had been trying to retire since last May.

Papers Show Hess Active in Peace Move in Fall of 1940

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 4.—Confidential papers of Adolf Hitler showed today that as early as the fall of 1940 Rudolf Hess, the deputy fuhrer, was working secretly to establish contacts with "reasonable Englishmen" to try to end the war.

A detailed account of his efforts is contained in a 1,400-word report to Hitler written by Hess' intimate advisor, Dr. Albrecht Haushofer, May 25, 1941, shortly after the deputy fuhrer flew to England on his vain mission.

Major industries and areas affected by strikes now in progress or threatened in the nation are indicated on the map above. Approximately 1,500,000 workers face idleness as result of labor disputes.

Boy Has Close Call In Meadville Pool

(Special)

Meadville, Jan. 4.—Wayne Wilcox, 9-year-old resident of the Bethesda Home, was rescued from the bottom of the local Y. M. C. A. swimming pool about 1:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

William Byham, 17, saw the boy floundering in the pool and called to him. When he did not receive an answer and Wilcox sank to the bottom, Byham immediately dived in and brought him to safety.

A pulmonologist, dispatched to the scene in the chief's car from central fire station, was used, and the youth quickly revived. He was removed later to Spencer Hospital and treated for shock. The boy told his Y. M. C. A. instructor that he was seized with cramps.

Gen. Homma Blamed For Death March

By JAMES HALSEMA

Manila, Jan. 4.—(P)—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma himself gave the order for the infamous death march that killed thousands on the agony-strewn route from Bataan to Camp O'Donnell in April, 1942.

One of his staff officers testified at Homma's war-crimes trial today. And neither Homma nor his staff cared what happened to the emaciated American and Filipino prisoners, the witness, Lt. Col. Michio Kitayama, asserted. Kitayama, a communications officer at Homma's 14th Imperial Army Headquarters, said he saw the march from several successive vantage points along the road.

The once-arrogant Homma listened meekly to the testimony. Kitayama's responses to prosecution questions did not swerve from a previously-recorded deposition in which he asserted that the Japanese attitude toward prisoners was not one of "too great concern."

"This prevailed all through the (Japanese) army," he explained, because Homma's men were busy reducing Corregidor and because of the Japanese belief that any soldier who surrenders has committed a disgrace.

He immediately was marked down in gestapo records as having "sympathetic feeling and contact with the English." His death, however, did not come until last year when he was executed for possible implication in the July 20, 1944, death plot against Hitler and in new secret peace negotiations through Swiss channels.

War To Wipe Out the Polish Corridor Considered "Sacred Duty" By High Nazi Leaders

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 4.—(P)—Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, former German war minister, informed the international military tribunal in an affidavit today that the whole group of German general staff officers considered a war to wipe out the Polish corridor was "a sacred duty."

The marshal, who was deposed in 1938 as minister of war because the fuhrer disapproved of his marriage, said the Polish corridor issue was the primary reason for secret rearmament which began about 10 years before Hitler assumed power.

Blomberg is a prisoner of the United States Army of Occupation. His affidavit was submitted as American prosecutors started the development of one of the most controversial and probably most difficult tasks in the entire trial of the 22 ranking Nazis—the effort to convict the general staff and high command as a criminal organization which willingly lent its services to a Nazi plot to wage aggressive wars.

Blomberg's testimony came directly with the concentration camp horrors. The most dramatic moment of the session came when Alois Hoellrich, former guard at the notorious Mauthausen death camp, rose from his seat and pointed a finger directly at Blomberg, who was asked to identify the defendant who visited Mauthausen in 1942.

The one-time strutting head of the Hitler youth movement, who prior to the trial contended he was unaware of concentration camp horrors, moved uneasily as all eyes in the court room turned on him. Then he leaned forward and whispered to Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering.

Not one neighbor heard any of the shots, Kelly reported, but police set time of the mass slaying as "early last Tuesday morning, New Year's Day," on the basis of three incoherent notes dated Jan. 1, and unopened mail found under the apartment door.

Schuetz's penciled notes, Kelly said, indicated his wife was enroute to her mother's home in Greenfield, Mass.

Investigation proved this incorrect. The Schuetz's eldest child—12-year-old Donald, was with his mother.

In one of his notes, Schuetz—Philadelphia representative for a Manchester, Conn., tree nursery firm—asked that his remains be (Turn to Page Eleven)

Ex-Governor Honeymonds On Big Yacht

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Comdr. George H. Earle, former Pennsylvania governor, who plans a Mediterranean cruise with his 27-year-old Belgian bride, owns a 43-foot yacht he can use for the trip.

A spokesman for the War Shipping Administration said the vessel, the Far Cry, was sold to Earle's account last November at Essington, Pa., for $6,128. The WSA representative said this was the highest offer received in a bid sale.

It could not be learned immediately what the navy paid for the boat, now eight years old, in requisitioning it for war purposes from its former owner.

The 55-year-old governor of Pennsylvania from 1935 to 1939 was recently divorced by the mother of his four children. She has since remarried. Earle subsequently married the former Jacqueline Sacre, of Ostend, Belgium, in a ceremony in Istanbul, Turkey, where he had been stationed as assistant naval attaché.

JAP CABINET WILL DISCUSS PURGE DECREE

Directives Issued By MacArthur Order Drastic "Housecleaning" of Government

LEADERS BEWILDERED

By RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo, Jan. 4.—(P)—General MacArthur today decreed a drastic "housecleaning" of Japan's government, and Premier Shidehara's cabinet called an emergency session for tomorrow to consider methods of compliance.

Quoting informed quarters, the Japanese news agency Kyodo said that the two new directives ordering a purge of all men who led Japan into war would affect practically every member of the present government. It expected specifically only Premier Kijuro Shidehara, Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida and Justice Minister Chuzo Iwata.

Tokyo newspapers interpreted the Allied orders as a move to give Japan new leaders, and Kyodo said the first reaction among politicians was one of bewilderment.

It quoted a member of the progressive party as saying "this practically means that all members of the present diet will not be able to run in the coming election. Even if they did run, they will not have a chance."

The directives ordered the government to abolish all ultra-nationalist, terrorist and militarist groups or societies and to oust from public office and influence persons who "deceived and misled the people of Japan into embarking on world conquest."

The directives picked up where the war criminal lists left off. The new move makes the first incision into encrusted bureaucrats and politicians controlling the government. The consternation in public offices probably will be matched by the people's applause.

The new orders serve notice of Allied impatience with Japanese efforts to rid themselves of personages and organizations instrumental in the militarist era. Patriotic societies, such as the Black Dragon, supposedly have been disbanded. But the Japanese press reports at least eight of more than 30 current political parties are led by former rightists.

The first immediate effect of the orders will be to disqualify dozens of the strongest candidates from old line parties for the coming national elections. This will widen the field for the independents, heretofore dismayed by the extensiveness of political machines opposing them. It will minimize the holder influence of the "Tojo diet."

The directive purges the government of jingoistic policy-making officials holding offices of Chokunin rank or higher. This means officers appointed by imperial order, such as department heads, bureau chiefs and prefectural governors.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 4.—(P)—Widespread letdown for the first post-war Christmas was reflected in the report of business activity in the Pittsburgh district in the week ended Dec. 29, according to the Bureau of Business Research, University of Pittsburgh.

The business index dropped from 172.8 to 158.6 per cent of the 1935-39 average. The figure last week was the same as for the corresponding week in 1944 but the drop was greater.

Sales in Pittsburgh department stores for the four weeks ended Dec. 29 exceeded the same period in 1944 by 18.8 per cent.

Sun Publisher Is Plane Crash Victim

Reno, Nev., Jan. 4.—(P)—The body of William T. DeWart, Jr., youthful publisher of the New York Sun who was killed yesterday while taking flying lessons near Reno, will be sent to New York City today for services.

Burial of the 33-year-old newspaperman, son of the late William T. DeWart, president of the Sun, will be in Woodlawn cemetery. Other arrangements are incomplete.

His widow, Mrs. Catherine Ashbrook DeWart, is in New York. DeWart died a few hours after the private, two-seater plane he was flying, brushed a tree and crashed on the Roy Bankofer ranch eight miles south of here. His flying instructor, Joseph M. Williams, was injured, but not critically. DeWart died in Reno's Washoe General Hospital of a skull fracture.

John S. Belford, Reno attorney, said DeWart had been visiting here about four weeks, staying at a hotel in the city.

DeWart was born in New York City. He became publisher and secretary of the Sun in 1941, shortly before he entered the army as a second lieutenant.

Less Talk By Congress And More Action On Prevention Of Disputes Truman Demand

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—President Truman called on the American people today to demand more action and less talk from congress on legislation to lessen strikes.

He also told the nation in a half-hour radio address last night that "time is running out" on most of his other reconversion measures because action in senate and house has been "distressingly slow."

Congress returns January 14 from its holiday adjournment. "Unless we can soon meet the need of obtaining full production and employment at home," Mr. Truman asserted, "we shall face serious consequences. They will be serious not only in what they mean to the American people as such, but also in what they can do to our position as leader among the nations of the world."

Therefore, in this "year of decision," Mr. Truman turned to "the most powerful pressure group in the world"—the American people—"who have no special interests, whose interests are only the interests of the nation as a whole."

The president expressed deep concern over present and threatened strikes in the auto, steel, electrical and meat packing industries, declaring that war-end promises of cooperation from members of congress, industry, labor and farm groups "have not all been kept," and concluded:

"We cannot shrink leadership in the postwar world. The problems of our economy will not be solved by timid men, mistrustful of each other. We cannot face 1946 in a spirit of drift or irresolution."

First congressional comment was sharply divided, and not entirely along party lines.

There was no immediate reaction from labor or industry. In his address, Mr. Truman said that of equal importance with settlement of management-labor disputes is the question of keeping prices on an even keel.

Hitting at "pressure groups" which he said are lobbying to "take off" price controls, the chief executive said these restrictions and those over rents will have to be extended even beyond their June 30 expiration date. So, he said, will controls on scarce materials.

Calling for prompt action on his December 3 request for legal authority to set up fact-finding boards in major industrial disputes—with strikes to be held in check for 30 days pending board reports—Mr. Truman said:

"Every day that production is delayed and civilian goods are kept from our markets by strikes or lockouts brings injury to our reconversion program. Already millions of dollars in wages have been lost to workers."

"The time has come for every citizen of the United States to make his opinion known to his representative in the congress. Once that is done, you may be sure that results will follow," he said.

Mr. Truman expressed the hope, too, that legislators will talk to their constituents while home on vacation and that immediately on reconvening ten days hence they will "do something substantial about strikes along the lines I have suggested instead of merely talking about them."

Mr. Truman said fact-finding boards cannot function efficiently without statutory backing. He cited the creation of such a board by executive order in the General Motors strike and said "a corporation 'has refused to cooperate.'"

"There is no way that I can be compelled to cooperate," he added, "unless a statute is passed giving the board the power of subpoena."

War By Man-Made Epidemics Possible

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Waging of war by man-made epidemic is a "likely possibility" for the future, the navy reported today.

This conclusion was reached by a Naval Medical Research unit during two years of supersecret experiments at the University of California.

A department announcement added that the unit gained valuable knowledge at the same time about "mass defense against possible enemy employment of a certain disease which is highly fatal."

For security reasons the name of the disease was withheld, but the navy said it is "centuries old and one of the greatest of killers."

The announcement came as a quick follow-up to a report disclosing that the United States, Britain and Canada have been working together to ferret out the secrets of war by bacteria.

The report was made last night by the War Research Service, a civilian agency working with military and naval experts in biological warfare research.

Japan was on the road to perfecting biological weapons when the war ended, the service said.

First Methodist Chimes Will Be Signal For Twelfth Night

When the chimes ring out from First Methodist church belfry in a final peal of caroling on Saturday night, it will be time for the citizens of Warren to don hats and coats and start for the Twelfth Night celebration which will begin promptly at seven o'clock on Beatty playground.

Sponsored by Girl Scouts, the event is planned for the community and the size of the fire will depend upon Warren residents. Every Christmas tree in Warren should be on Beatty playground by noon on Saturday, to add its bit to the glory of the big bonfire which will close the Christmas season officially in Warren.

A mounting pile on the playground gives promise of a worthwhile spectacle tomorrow evening. Everyone loves a fire and, with the fire department doing a bang-up job of prevention, there is little chance nowadays for local citizens to enjoy the thrill that a big blaze gives. In this case, too, there is no element of destruction and property loss that is always present in case of an accidental fire.

The King and Queen of Twelfth night who will be crowned by Ed Lowrey at the opening of the program on Saturday evening, will be chosen by lot at the big party for all Girl Scouts which will be held at the Y. W. C. A. tonight at seven o'clock. Mrs. Harold Blair and her program committee of the Warren county Girl Scouts are in charge of the Twelfth Night celebration and the party.

WAR COUNCIL UNADVISED ON ULTIMATUM

Adm. Stark Tells Investigators Secretary Hull Failed To Inform Army and Navy

PRESIDENT SURPRISED

BULLETIN

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Congressional investigators heard today that Hawaii's defenders fully expected the Japanese to come back promptly after the Pearl Harbor attack and called desperately for more fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns to meet the anticipated second assault.

This information went into the record along with the word that on that fatal Sunday morning, December 7, 1941, the navy flew a 16-plane patrol in just the opposite direction from which the Japanese force was advancing.

Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—Admiral Harold R. Stark told congressional investigators of Pearl Harbor today that Secretary of State Hull handed his November 23, 1941, note to the Japanese without first informing the army or navy.

"This note was later called an 'ultimatum' by the Japanese and used as an excuse for war."

"Did Secretary Hull assume the great responsibility personally of handing the 10-point notice to the Japanese without informing the president or the war council?" asked Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.).

"I don't think he would have without informing the president," but he did do it without informing the army and navy, replied Stark, who was chief of naval operations at the time.

Gearhart also discussed various testimony as to whether President Roosevelt expected war soon late in 1941, and on his surprise at the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"Why is there an assertion one moment that the president was surprised, and at the next moment that he was not surprised?" the congressman asked.

Stark compared it to the situation of a person who does not expect to get hurt, but takes precautions against the possibility.

It is Gearhart's contention that Washington, admittedly surprised over the Pearl Harbor attack, acted curiously in criticizing the Harbor commanders for being caught off guard.

Gearhart told reporters he intends to pursue this policy through continuing examination of Adm. Harold R. Stark and later witnesses.

Gearhart and the 1941 chief of naval operations tangled briefly on the subject in the late hours of yesterday's session of the senate-house investigation committee.

Stark quoted President Roosevelt as having told him in the summer of 1944, "Betty, you were surprised at that attack and was I. . . (Betty is Stark's nickname)."

The witness added that Mr. Roosevelt, prior to the attack, "was not expecting an attack on Hawaii any more than I was." He said they both expected Japan to strike first to the south, rather than to the east.

Turkey May Reject Territory Demands

Istanbul, Jan. 3.—(Delayed)—(P)—Usually well informed diplomats said today Turkey's foreign minister, Hasan Saka, had been instructed to reject any demands on Turkish territory and to tell British and American representatives that his nation would rather fight a war than take a diplomatic defeat.

The informants declined to be identified by name.

Soviet Armenia recently demanded cession to the Soviet Union of the Armenian provinces of Kars and Ardahan in northeastern Turkey and two professors of Soviet Georgia requested Turkey cede seven other provinces along the Black Sea.

Saka left Wednesday to attend the United Nations general assembly opening Jan. 10, in London, where he was expected to hold private talks with officials of the United States and Britain.

Warren Lowe Attends Meet At Harrisburg

Highway Superintendent Warren Lowe is in Harrisburg today attending a meeting of district engineers and superintendents of the state highways department to plan the spring program to keep Pennsylvania roads in trim.

State Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer in calling the meeting said heavy rain before cold weather arrived caused formation of "a solid mass of frozen ground and there is much danger of road buckling and road heaving should we have a sudden thaw and a sudden freeze."

He said he will discuss with the engineers "the initiating of an early spring program in order to prepare for early spring action."

Because this year will be "one of the busiest the highway department has experienced."

All of the department's eleven district engineers and 66 superintendents will meet with him, Shroyer added.

Furnace Is Condemned By Chief Albaugh

Firemen this morning were called to the property at 120 Muir street owned by A. J. Fohlman, of Erie. The home was found filled with smoke and after an inspection Fire Chief Albaugh found the furnace had a gaping hole in it. He condemned the use of the furnace and has notified the owner of the property to make immediate repairs as the danger of residents of the home being overcome with gas is great. There is also grave danger of fire.

The firemen were also called to the Pinsky block on Pennsylvania avenue, east, last night about 10 o'clock. The building was found to be filled with smoke and fumes but there was no fire. A complete investigation of the building and its heating arrangements was made by firemen.

DISCHARGED G. I. TO FIGHT FOR OLD JOB

Philadelphia, Jan. 4—(P)—A 39-year-old Eastern, Pa., discharged GI and the father of two children is asking a United States court to get back his prewar job as Northampton County detective.

John A. Ruppert filed suit in U. S. district court yesterday against Stanley J. Fehr, Northampton county district attorney. He said failure to regain his job was the result of "politics."

"I am a Democrat and at one time was quite active; and the office—or regime—is Republican. I think I am the only one from the office up there who left to go into the war who has not been reinstated," Ruppert asserted.

The job pays $2,000-a-year. He was named to the post in January, 1940 and was inducted in the army in April, 1942.

Discharged last Oct. 25, he is also asking for retroactive pay to Oct. 26 in his suit.

Van Riper said he was availing himself of the remedy which the constitution and the laws of New Jersey provide as "a protection against those who abuse the power of a free press."

STATISTICAL COMEBACK

The National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn. has charged that 750,000,000 board feet of lumber—enough to build 75,000 to 100,000 new houses—were exported this year under government license, and at better prices than are obtainable under domestic OPA ceilings.

The Foreign Economic Administration, which granted the export permits, defended its original export program of 1,000,000,000 board feet by stating that the proposed shipments represented only 3 to 4 per cent of our lumber production. That seems to be the best FEA excuse to date.

Such a comeback is, by now, a typical bureaucratic dodge. Statistics frequently have a way of telling only part of a story, but these are positively deceptive. Whatever the projected lumber production for the year may have been, there is only a trickle of it available for present housing needs.

There are current strikes in the lumbering industry that are holding up production. There is a dearth of seasoned wood. There are other factors that add up to a lumber and housing shortage now, whatever the statistics say.

The 1945 lumber exports may be only a small fraction of production in the last year of war. But those 750,000,000 board feet shipped abroad would have provided wood for from 15 to 20 per cent of the 500,000 new housing units projects for 1946.

Lumber is not food. We may be the world's biggest food producers, capable of large exports without suffering any domestic hardship. But we are not the only big lumber producers, and our housing shortage is growing increasingly critical. Comforting statistics and percentages are not sufficient answers to the present problem.

COMRADES

Sometimes it seems that the Russian people are as remote from our understanding as they are from our sight. For example, it must have seemed odd, if admirable, to many Americans that a Russian husband and wife should have bought a tank with their own money, operated it in Poland, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Germany, and killed 160 enemy soldiers.

But if the Americans read to the end of the story, they would have found that the husband did the driving and the wife did the bossing. The back-seat driver, then, is a Russian institution, too. Knowing that, we somehow feel that world brotherhood is a possibility after all.

DIFFERENT SOUND EFFECTS

The Russian press accuses Turkey of "sword-rattling" because it has announced that it will resist by force, if necessary, a Russian demand for several thousand square miles of Turkish territory.

This must have been a surprising change from the knee-rattling which is the usual response to similar Russian requests.

Monday the Lions Club will see a two reel film of St. Petersburg, Fla., showing scenes in and about that resort city. Some Warren club could ring the bell by raising funds and getting out a two or three reel film of the Allegheny National Forest and scenes in and about this section, the Kinzua hairpin turn, etc. These could be sent out and shown by clubs and groups over the nation and would be a big step forward in the plan to bring tourists into this section. The cost would not be too great and the full co-operation of the Allegheny Forest management could and would be secured. The suggestion is a worthy one for the Chamber of Commerce to include in their agenda for the year.

Authorities in the newsprint field have estimated that newspaper publishers in the United States will pay approximately $20,000,000 more to publish their newspapers in 1943 than they did in 1945, on the basis of an increase of $6 a ton for newsprint.

Girl Scout officials in charge of the Twelfth Night tree burning ceremonies at Beaty Field Saturday evening at seven promise the program will be short and interesting. The public is invited and it is a foregone conclusion a large crowd will be on hand. Better go over and see the fun.

1945—YEAR OF RETRIBUTION —By NEA— No. 4: Surrender at Reims

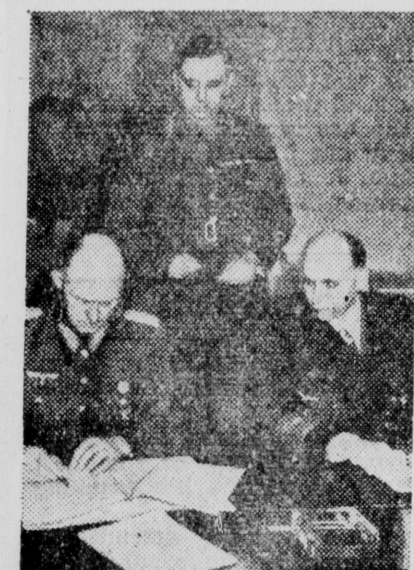

By NEA Service

BY MAY the Nazi dream had become a nightmare of frustration and failure. Hitler was missing and presumed dead; Goering was a fugitive in Bavaria; Doenitz, an admiral, called himself the government of Germany—his capital the Danish border town of Flensburg. Russian, American, British, Canadian and French troops herded the remnants of the Wehrmacht into barred wire pens like cattle.

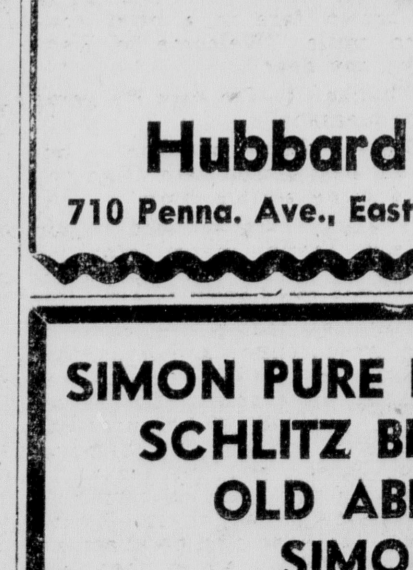

On the night of May 6th a grim-lipped Nazi general, Alfred Jodl, Chief of Staff of the German Army, arrived with Allied officers at the building shown above and hurried through the door.

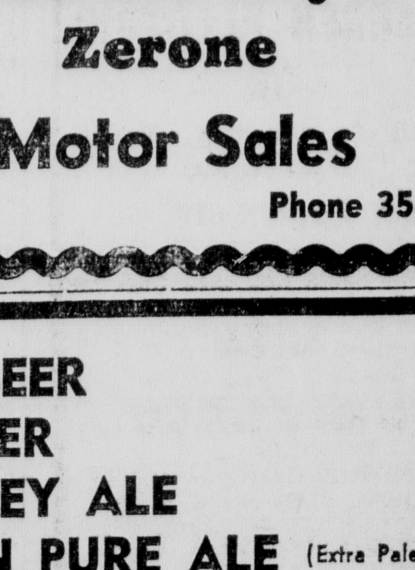

The building—in peacetime the Reich technical school—was the headquarters of General Eisenhower. In the briefcase which the German clasped under his arm were credentials entitling him to negotiate surrender.

There were no negotiations. What discussion there was around the big, black-topped school table at which the delegates of Germany and of the Allied powers faced one another dealt with the technicalities of effecting surrender of many thousands of fully-armed troops.

As to the terms of surrender—that was unconditional in accordance with the Casablanca directive of Roosevelt and Churchill. Jodl took the fountain pen as directed and signed.

The surrender was made by the German Chief of Staff to the Allied Chief of Staff, Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith. The Germans and their instruments of capitulation were then presented before the Supreme Commander.

In a year from the invasion of Normandy he had hoped to reach the Siegfried Line. By now it was early in the morning of the seventh of May and he had ended his war in victory with a month still to go from that first modest estimate.

Tomorrow: Back to Luzon.

Extension Association Will Hear State College Professor

Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension agricultural economist, of the Pennsylvania State College, will address the thirty-first annual meeting of the Warren County Agricultural Extension Association on January 16th, announces County Agent O. C. Tritt.

The annual meeting will start at 10:30 a. m. in the Court House with Stanley Laurence, president of the association, presiding. County Agent Tritt, Margaret Reed, home economics extension representative, and association officials will give reports. Local leaders will discuss 1945 extension work. After luncheon in the Y. W. C. A. at noon Dr. Hood will speak. Farmers and farm women will select the 1946 executive committee. Later the committee will reorganize for 1946.

Taking as his theme "The Agricultural Outlook for 1946," Dr. Hood will make particular reference to postwar conditions, including changes in marketing, production, food requirements, and costs as well as prices. He will suggest changes farmers may want to make in their programs better to cope with situations likely to develop during the ensuing months.

A native of Lawrence county where he was reared on a farm, Dr. Hood has devoted nearly his whole life to a study of agriculture, and is in much demand as a speaker on subjects in the field of agricultural economics in which he is a recognized authority.

Graduating from the Pennsylvania State College, where he specialized in agricultural economics, he went on to Cornell University to earn his doctorate degree in the same field, and then remained at Cornell for time to do teaching and extension work. He found time to study agricultural conditions, first hand in Europe, particularly the cooperative movement, before the recent war. During World War II he served for a time as an Army instructor, but most of his time since joining the Penn State faculty ten years ago has been devoted to extension work in agricultural economics.

He is a contributor to magazines, and the author of a book—soon to be published—on rural-urban relations. Just recently returned from the annual Outlook Conference in Washington, his address will reflect some of the current thinking by agricultural leaders and economists on world-wide, as well as nation-wide farm problems and situations anticipated for 1946.

Vet Returns To Job With Finance Firm

R. L. Kimberland, has returned to Warren, as manager of the Personal Finance Company, 216 Liberty street, it was announced today. He succeeds Miss Dorothy H. Baker, who will remain in Warren as Mr. Kimberland's assistant.

Mr. Kimberland has been associated with the Personal Finance Company for the past 8½ years, and was manager in Warren prior to his entrance into the Army. His return to Warren is at his own request—another "feather in the cap" for Warren.

"The usefulness of institutions devoted to the problem of financing the average wage-earner," Mr. Kimberland said today, "has become increasingly apparent in the past few years. About 85 per cent of the families in America do not have access to bank credit—and it is to supply their wants that the Personal Finance Company has been constantly expanding its facilities and services."

There are many legitimate reasons why the average wage-earner requests a small loan," he said. "The payment of a hospital bill—the need for a sum of cash to tide a family over an emergency period—the payment of accumulated bills—these and many other reasons are justification enough for us to make loans on a sound, businesslike basis at 'Personal'."

"We have been saying 'Yes' to our customers for many years and we'll continue to do so. The record shows that 4 out of 5 who ask us for a loan get one. We're proud of that record and we intend to live up to it in Warren."

Mr. Kimberland is a native of Washington, and attended Slippery Rock State Teachers College in 1920. He received a degree Phys. Ed. in 1924, and has attended business schools in evening courses for several years.

Mr. Kimberland is a member of the Kiwanis and American Legion.

His wife, Florence, and son, Russell L. Kimberland, II, will reside with him in Warren as soon as he can locate living quarters for them.

A drug, hyoscine, has been used with great success by naval aviation in prevention of airsickness in training pilots.

New Process Chorus Wins High Praise

One of the best singing groups about Warren is the New Process Girls Chorus and it has won much applause on its appearance at various places in the area. In a recent issue of the Erie Dispatch Herald Arch Bristow takes occasion to add to the plaudits won by the singing stenos of the New Process Company as follows:

A while ago, employees of Warren's thriving New Process Co. gave a party to their well-beloved boss, John L. Blair. The affair was held at the County Club, and made history, even in Warren, a town that has seen many elaborate parties.

For this tribute to the boss, Will Rice wrote a playlet about the life of Mr. Blair, which was staged by an excellent cast. John L., as you may imagine, was tremendously pleased and interested.

It's not given to many men to originate and build up an internationally known institution like New Process... build it through years of thick and thin, win such success and, best of all, have all his boys and girls like him.

A highlight of the New Process Party was the singing by a girls' chorus, Mr. Blair, and other two, remarked they had no idea such talent existed in the company. So the Girls' Chorus has been encouraged, rehearsed more frequently, smoothed up and streamlined into what real critics are calling a first class singing group.

The mail order Girls' Chorus has the distinct advantage of appealing both to the eye and ear, sweet faces in harmony with dulcet sound.

The Chorus has been singing a little outside of Warren of late, makes a distinct hit at each appearance. It's all girls, even the manager. It doesn't take any male orders.

RUSSELL

Russell, Jan. 3—The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Yeagle, Warren-Jamestown road. A thirteen dinner was served. The president, Mrs. Maynard Briggs, presided. Mrs. Miller, of Warren, gave a planograph of "A Saviour born in Bethlehem."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alice Moll. Forty-two relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Haller gathered at the new home known as the Arthur farm, at Akeley, and tendered them a house warming. In behalf of the guests Algot Lundgren presented Mr. and Mrs. Haller with a purse of money. Guests were present from Jamestown, Akeley, and vicinity, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snow, Lancaster, and Jeannette Lundmark, of Cleveland.

One motor vehicle manufacturer estimates it will require production of 18,500,000 new cars and trucks to return the United States to normal usage.

Announcement was made of the Lutheran Circle supper at six-thirty on Wednesday, Missionary Society on Thursday at eight o'clock with choir rehearsal just prior to it at seven o'clock, and Ladies' Aid on Friday afternoon.

The Lutheran Sunday school held its Christmas program in the church auditorium Wednesday of last week at six o'clock with a splendid attendance. The program opened with a hymn sung by the entire congregation after which Scripture and prayer were given by a pupil, Alfred Johnson. The primary department immediately followed this with many little recitations and songs given by the children from two and a half years old through the third grade under the direction of the Primary Superintendent, Mrs. Leroy Johnson.

The music for the department was directed by Mrs. M. I. Jones and accompanied by Mrs. E. W. Johnson. Remarks were made by the Senior Superintendent, Mr. Gustav Olson who also presented awards. Gifts in recognition for soliciting the most money for the Children's Home in Jamestown last spring were given to little Kathleen Burns, Garry Swanson, Vivian Nelson and Shirley Swanson. I. Jones, Lewis Jones, Nancy Carlson, Michael Swanson, Robert and Phillip Alling.

The program for the evening was divided into three parts as "Jesus Yesterday, Jesus of today, and Jesus of Tomorrow". The choral reading was done by a group of boys under the direction of Miss Edith Larson. Reader was Miss Shirley Cochran. The music for this department was led by the Junior choir under the direction of Mrs. Emil Nelson and accompanied by Mrs. Enoch Nelson. The offertory was "Brahm's Lullaby". Asolo was given by Mrs. Emil Nelson and accompanied by Mrs. Enoch Nelson. The offertory was "Brahm's Lullaby". A solo was given by Mrs. Emil Nelson. The benediction was given by the Rev. Hans Pearson.

The collection, following an old custom, was given to the organist and the choir director, the total amount being forty-seven dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Johnson and Miss Joyce Wallin entertained the Luther League on Thursday evening in the church parlors with a splendid attendance. The meeting was conducted by the president, Robert Johnson.

SCOUTS

The Ludlow Cub Scouts held a Christmas party at the home of Mr. Walter Cox on Friday evening with most of the Scouts present. A Christmas tree topped the decorations and an exchange of gifts was made with Santa Claus present. The Cubs received gifts of pencils from the Cub committee. Games were played after which refreshments were served. This evening's affair was planned under the direction of Cub Master Tony Morelli and Cub Activities chairman, Emil Nelson.

Miss Helen Franois entertained her former group of Senior Girl Scouts at her home on Thursday evening with all of them present. Games formed the amusement for the evening after which a grab-bag was held. Refreshments were served in the late evening.

The Brown's Scouts held a Christmas party at the home of their leader, Mrs. E. W. Johnson, on Tuesday before Christmas with eighteen girls present. Gifts were exchanged and games were played after which lunch was served.

COMMUNITY

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hanson held "Open House" on Christmas night for some of the returned servicemen in town by twenty-five guests present. In attendance from out-of-town were Misses Margaret and Doris Carlson, of Buffalo, Seaman 2/c Richard and Mrs. Nelson of Washington, D. C. and Mr. and Mrs. Loyall Elder of Pittsburgh. Guests at their home on Thursday from out-of-town at a coffee were Misses Bonalyn Connelly and Rose Nelson of Cleveland. Weekend guests at their home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards of Jamestown and Sunday guests were Miss Marie Nelson of Bradford.

Edith stood there uncertainly until Whit said, "Here's Julie waiting to show you to your room. You'll meet Josie and Barbara later. We have dinner at six-thirty. You might want to rest until then."

"Thank you," Edith said, grateful to be taken from her grandmother's presence. A small negro maid with white teeth and rolling eyes said, "Come this way, Miss Edith."

She followed the girl into the vast coolness of a great hallway, up a magnificent spiral stairway and over the soft carpeting of the upper hallway to the door of a big cheerful room. She saw a canopied bed and tall windows with frilly curtains, a chintz-covered chaise longue and a dainty skirted dressing-table. This, then, was to be hers for the next few weeks.

Enchanted Journey

By Helen R. Woodward

Chapter 9 THE moment Edith's foot touched the cement platform, Whit Lacey was striding toward her. She was surprised at his youth, the almost unbelievable good looks of him. Confused memories of what Laura had told her of this man churned about in her mind but none of them had really prepared her for his actual appearance. Until this moment he had been a shadowy figure of the imagination. Least of all was she prepared for the startling likeness between them, for when his fine hand met hers something passed between them as if each had found something long lost which belonged to the other.

"Hello, Edith," Whit said, too casually for his hand was trembling. His white teeth showed in his brown face in a brief confused smile. "Welcome to Kentucky, my dear!"

"Thanks! It—I'm sure it's going to be pleasant."

"Rather warm for June—but it's our best season here. Glad you could come at this time."

"Thanks!" Edith said again stiltedly, hating herself for the feeling of childish awkwardness that possessed her.

They reached Whit's car—a long, grey coupe—and he helped her in, then went to see after her baggage. In a short time he returned and they were threading their way through the traffic of Main Street and out into the beauty of the June country-side. Something caught in Edith's throat—as ever city dwellers are first affected—while then and there the blue grass country claimed her for its own.

On a slight rise of the roadway Whit slowed the car and pointed to an artist's view of rolling land. "Rather a pretty picture," he offered modestly, as if he, himself, had painted it; but back of the commonplace words Edith caught the pride of generations of dwellers in this land of beauty and plenty.

"It's the most beautiful country I've ever seen," she said simply, and his dark eyes brushing over her were filled with approval and understanding.

As they started on, a truck well-filled with farm produce passed them. The man at the wheel lifted his hand, then, seeing Edith, his hat brim raised, he passed on. A striking-looking young man, Edith thought, with fine dark eyes looking out from under the brim of a wide straw hat. She would have liked to ask who he was but since Whit offered no information she remained silent.

And now they were turning in at a stone gateway, were rolling along a carefully tended drive and then were coming in view of a very old, very beautiful white house. And Whit was saying, "Well, here we are. Welcome to Roselands!"

AN OLD lady stood on the wide portico. She wore a dress of summer lawn sprinkled with black figures, and old-fashioned, high-heeled black satin slippers. Her white hair was piled high on her small head, which made her appear taller than she really was. She had snapping black eyes and a determined little mouth above a perfect succession of double chins.

Whit said, "Mother, here's Edith. What do you think of her?"

And Edith found herself being subjected to the most severe scrutiny. For a long moment no word was said while those piercing black eyes took in every detail of her person. And quite unexpectedly Edith felt a rising anger. How dared this old woman to greet a guest, a stranger, in this way! Even if she was her grand-daughter. She drew herself up haughtily and Whitney Lacey, looking on with interest, almost laughed aloud at the resemblance between the old woman and the young one. Then Edith said clearly, "Good afternoon, Grandmother, and if you don't like my looks, perhaps I'd better go back home!"

Eugenia Lacey's black brows shot upward. "Who said I didn't like your looks, young lady? And don't start out by being impertinent to me."

Edith's lip was trembling. She wished she were a million miles away from this horrid old woman. "Certainly won't," she replied, "unless you start out by being rude to me!"

Then indeed Whitney Lacey's merriment flowed over. He laughed loudly and with evident enjoyment until he saw that Edith was almost in tears, then he patted her shoulder kindly. "Never mind mother, Edith," he said, controlling his laughter with difficulty. "She just likes to terrorize people at the beginning, then she usually has no more trouble with them!"

"Shut up, Whit Lacey!" Eugenia demanded, then turning to Edith, "Pay no attention to anything he says, child. And forgive me if I seemed rude. I was merely interested in seeing what sort of a person your mother made of you." For the first time her mouth moved into a sort of smile. "I think you're very pretty and evidently you have spunk. See that you don't overdo the latter quality!"

Edith stood there uncertainly until Whit said, "Here's Julie waiting to show you to your room. You'll meet Josie and Barbara later. We have dinner at six-thirty. You might want to rest until then."

"Thank you," Edith said, grateful to be taken from her grandmother's presence. A small negro maid with white teeth and rolling eyes said, "Come this way, Miss Edith."

She followed the girl into the vast coolness of a great hallway, up a magnificent spiral stairway and over the soft carpeting of the upper hallway to the door of a big cheerful room. She saw a canopied bed and tall windows with frilly curtains, a chintz-covered chaise longue and a dainty skirted dressing-table. This, then, was to be hers for the next few weeks.

Thoughts on My 89th Birthday

Written June 11, 1944, by Mrs. Lucretia Rosen, Jamestown, N. Y., former Garland resident and now past 90 years.

Eighty-nine years! How far back in the past my childhood seems as I recall those years one by one, and remember happy years, and sad years all along the way up until today. The first thing I remember was one evening in the fall of the year, my father had engaged a young man, Amasa Mandaville, to come to our house and teach "singing by note". Our living room was seated by placing shingle bolts on end and laying boards across, and while the neighbors were gathering, father and mother went upstairs to get quilts to lay on the boards and chestnuts to treat the people—I was very small, and very timid, and just as my parents came down the stairs I started to meet them, and fell between the seats. To coax me up, because I lost two teeth, father let me sit on his lap and learn to beat time, while he sang bass. We gathered many bushels of chestnuts in the fall in those long ago years. Missionaries, or as we called them Colporteurs, came through every few weeks between Warren and Pleasantville, they always had tracts, religious cards, and sometimes books to give children. I think they were sent out by the "American Tract Society". Our house was a stopping place for travelers, so my people often kept them over night, father would go all through the woods to call in the near neighbors and we had a preaching service. I still remember the names of Rev. Willowby, Rev. Akeley and Rev. Drake. One day father went to Warren and got a permit to straighten and cut through the road from our house to what is now Torpedo, he made a road for lots of men came and chopped down big maples between us and the Rhinehart farm, father and his brother John Pierce "lined the road" or sighted it through between the Henry Rhinehart farm and Starr, and it was a straight road. I mustn't forget to mention the fact that the neighbor men brought their wives and children. Mother put on a quilt and served tea and pans of chicken pie and rice pudding, cream biscuits, and succotash, after that we had a wagon road past our house. I can still remember when father had to drive to Starr, over Sanford hill and down to Garland on his way to Jamestown, N. Y. Our farm was fenced with rails father split and I still recall the fence the entire front of the farm and the gate in front of the house where I was born. Father chopped down those beautiful trees where the Newton cemetery holds so many of our loved ones and his father was the first person buried there. Many times the whole family would spend an evening watching the log heaps burn where a "new piece" was being cleared for a crop for the next year. The ox team worked hard those days and a yoke of steers was being raised to take their place. Father made his yokes for them and a whip-stalk of hickory, never knew him to use a black snake whip like some men did. When he was breaking in a team of steers, he gave us all rides to the relatives or neighbors, so as to train the new team to travel on the road and the roads were terrible roads in those days. One time a man stopped with us over night who was driving through from York state to Tidouche with a load of apples and dried apples. We children had never seen a peach and but very, very few apples. So our parents bought a bag of apples. My mother saved a tea cup full of apple seeds, did them up in a cloth and planted them in the banking of the house. In the spring when the banking was removed the seeds were sprouting. Mother planted them in her flower bed. Some years later she had trees large enough to graft and her brother John Main grafted them, finally we had bearing apple trees. Father made shaved shingles, hauling them to the Allegheny river at Tidouche and shipped them to Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Many log houses and other houses and barns were covered with shingles my father shaved. I remember several I saw in good repair after I was grown up. I recall one order he had for shingles from the Beatty farm in Warren, Pa. When I was a young girl my people made their own sugar, their own barrels of soap, their own tallow candles for the tin lantern, and for the candles to carry about the house on candle sticks, and snuff the burned wicks with "snuffers". My father wore a neck yoke over his shoulders on which were chains and hooks to enable him to carry the heavy wooden pails or buckets. When he gathered sap in the sap troughs, he made the sap spikes in two large caldron kettles. He also used the same to bring up hill, water from a cold spring. One time it was surely a good thing to help him for he had an extra job. It was when I was four years old, Col. Drake had discovered oil, men went almost beside themselves to get that oil from the well near Titusville to Garland, and to a refinery.

One night 18 men with teams of mules, horses and oxen stopped at our house for shelter, food and rest. Father carried water, turned out his cattle, took teams into shingle shanties and hitched and bedded teams to the rail fence. Men carried bundles of straw upstairs and threw it on the chamber floor and lay down in their clothing to sleep. Father and mother stayed up all night to cook and feed them. That was one night and many others after the excitement abated, they sheltered and fed tired men and teams. We had no carpets or rugs. Father made split brooms for mother to use for scrubbing the floor and by the way a small split broom for us children to use in our playhouse—

The children had tin plates with the A. B. C. on the rim. We ate with steel knives and forks, and we children had to scour them once a day. We had six chairs and two rocking chairs, so when we had company we had to wait until the older people ate, then stand up at the square leaf leaf table. Mother made our clothes by hand, and did fine sewing and quilting, spinning, and knitting. When I was 14 years old I saw a chain stitch sewing machine. It had to be screwed onto a table and run by turning the wheel by hand. The next year father bought me the "American" lock stitch machine. It stood on the floor and had a foot pedal. My sister and I went to a birthday party about that time I saw a piano and heard a lady play it. We had few books those days. We studied the Bible and New Testament for our Sunday school lessons, learned a verse to stand and recite every Sunday.

I remember when father saved "Punk" from rotting logs in the woods, stuck his pocket knife against a piece of flint to start a spark to ignite the punk and start fires in log heaps when he was clearing land. I remember our first oil lamp and our first block of brimstone matches, we had to break them apart one by one. Our people took the "Rural New Yorker" and the "Warren Ledger". We traded with the tin peddlers, the pack peddler, and one winter with Indians. There were 3 wigwags at Torpedo two miles from our farm and we exchanged corn and vegetables for baskets. One time father called on them and saw a squaw making a pin cushion and decorating it with beads, he bought it for me, and when I looked at it he said "The squaw picked up those beads as fast as a hen picks up corn. We knew nothing in those days of the process of canning fruits or vegetables. We had bushels of wild berries every year, and preserved, pickled and dried them. We dried our corn. We did not raise tomatoes for food until I was about 12 years of age. Then we found them safe and delicious made into preserves, pickles and cooked as a vegetable. Mother was a good cook but toward spring we craved a change of food, so we gathered sprouts from the stored vegetables, such as turnips and beets mixed them with onions, vinegar, salt and pepper and ate them as a salad. I was 16 years of age before we had a cellar so our vegetables were kept thru the winter in holes covered deep with straw and earth. About that time a good cellar, a new house, barn and other buildings and plained board fence on the front of the farm changed the convenience and beauty of our home, but we only had a short time to enjoy them. The Allegheny Valley R. R. was put through our neighborhood, cut our farm off from the road. We left the dear old farm and soon after the buildings burned and everything was changed but in spite of the change memories return of the rag doll my mother made for us girls to enjoy, the sleds and wagon father made for our brothers to use and draw us on, of the cradle and the trundle bed, and later the rope bedstead, and clean straw tick and nice bedding. And I think there are millions of people today who will agree with me when I affirm the poet was right in saying "Be it ever so humble there is no place like home". Let me add "no book so precious as the Holy Bible, no prayer more sweet—"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep. If I should die, before I wake I pray the Lord my soul to take". From early childhood to the day an aged person lays down in the last long sleep, prayer holds good. And God hears prayers. The bow and arrow, tomahawk and scalping knife have disappeared from our land. There is no powder horn hanging on the wall beside a bag of rifle balls. The grain cradle and sickle are stored away in museums and men do not separate grain from straw by using two hickory sticks hung together by a strip of leather and called a flail. The old stage coach between Warren and Pleasantville is no more. The wild cats do not fight in the woods and swamps and make night hideous till the children fear to step out of doors after dark. The days are gone when we could go when we pleased and where we pleased and catch speckled trout and take them home and fry them in butter. The days are gone when ladies wore poke bonnets with dainty lace in front filled with tiny rose buds and flowing bonnets and shaker bonnets and all covered with beads and a circle comb and boys wore copper toed boots and con skin caps and men wore striped knitted mittens, blue dyed socks, boot yarn suspenders and hats of rye straw—top hats and cut-away coats and chokers.

The days are gone when school teachers "boarded round" at the homes of the pupils and set copies in fool cap writing paper copy books and cyphered on slates with slate pencils. The days are gone when neighbors sat up nights and cared for sick neighbors. The days are gone when loads of friends drove in unexpectedly for a visit and pieced quilt blocks and exchanged calicoes. The days are gone when families started at break of day to drive an ox team 8 or 10 miles to a preaching service in a school house where the preacher lined the hymns from one hymn book, and someone struck the key for the singing music on a tuning fork. Those were the days when the aged were loved and respected and cared for almost without exception in their own homes. Today we have the bicycle, motorcycle, automobile, airplane, bus, taxi and trucks, steam boats, steamships and bombing planes. Today we still look at the beauty of nature and see God's handiwork, we still have the Bible, the 10 commandments, the apostles' creed, the 23rd psalm, the Lord's prayer, the sermon on the mount, and hymns like "Rock of Ages", "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Guide Me O Thou Great Jehovah", we still have faith in the God who hears and answers prayers.

What Endocrine can do to bless you with a younger looking face

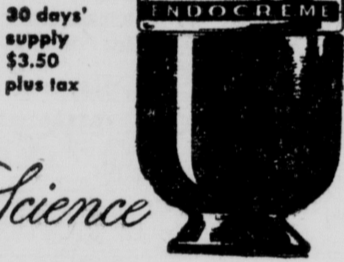

Think of the added beauty a more youthful face and throat can give! Then harken to this: Scientific research has proved that ENDOCREME can, for most women, contribute to this desirable result in a way formerly thought impossible. Many thousands are now finding that ENDOCREME actually helps to improve the skin itself, not just its transient, superficial "look." This is because ENDOCREME, alone, possesses ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. Absorbed by the skin, it helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to become fresher, smoother, more alluringly "alive." What bigger value can any woman young or old ask for her cosmetic dollars? The great majority get big improvement in only 30 days.

The Doll's House

A shortened version of Henrik Ibsen's "The Doll's House," one of the most famous dramas of any time, will be presented by The Warren Players on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock over WJTN. This is the first three-act adaptation to be presented under the direction of Olive Archibald Huff on the Metzger-Wright Company's program. In the cast this week are Anna Krantz Hyatt, who will play the role of Nora; Gerda Lawrence, playing Mrs. Linden; David Smith, playing Torvald Helmer, and Frank Cruickshank, playing Dr. Rank. The scenes selected highlight these characters, with connecting narrative for the rest of the drama. The play has held the interest of both the theatrical and reading public ever since its release in the latter part of the nineteenth century. It is the first of the modern problem plays, with excellent dialogue and clear-cut, memorable characterization.

Work has already been started on the production of "The King Must Not Look Pale" by William H. Wright. It will be presented a week from Sunday at the usual hour of the radio drama program. The cast will be announced the first of the week in the Times-Mirror.

and returns another spade. Then declarer establishes the hearts. When his last spade stopper is knocked out, he has to establish the diamond trick, but it is only reasonable to assume that the high diamond is probably in the West hand.

Thus, while containing control of all but the spade suit, North establishes the tricks he needs in the other three suits.

TO CRAWL OR NOT TO; THAT'S THE QUESTION

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

It is very important to learn how to handle various honor combinations. That is why I am showing only the heart suit in the North and East hands today, although I am giving you the bidding. On the opening lead of the deuce of hearts, North plays the five spot. What would you, as declarer, play from the East cards? Should you put on the nine or the king?

The lead of the deuce by your partner shows that he holds four hearts. The question is, what two hearts does the declarer hold? Let us assume that he has the two best hearts, the ace and jack; then you can play anything you like, because it won't make any difference. If he has the jack, and a small heart, the correct play is obviously the king. If he holds let us say, the ace and four of hearts, you may say that you lose a trick if you go up with the king, but that is not so. No declarer holding the ace and a small heart would play the five-spot from dummy. He would go in with the queen, hoping that West had led away from the king.

Therefore, with such a combination, your best play in my opinion always is the king. You will lose only when declarer makes what I think is a mistake that is, when he plays small from dummy, having the ace and a small heart in his own hand.

From 1919, when Sir Ross and Sir Keith Smith chalked up a record of 27 days, 20 hours in flying from England to Australia, the time has been cut to 67 hours by British Lancastrian mail planes.

GREED PUTS PLAYER IN SETTING SPOT

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

We have all read about the dog who saw his reflection in the water and lost the piece of meat he had in his mouth because he tried to get the piece reflected in the pool. That happens in bridge, too, when players are too greedy. That is why a surprising number of them would go down at three no trump on today's hand.

Before playing a card, declarer should count his tricks. He can make three heart tricks, a diamond and two clubs. Therefore in order to make the contract, he must make three spade tricks. The problem is the location of the king of spades. If East has it, there is plenty of time to find that out. If West has it, it is probably a singleton or doubleton.

♠ A 5 3	♥ A 4 3	♦ K 7 3	♣ K 9 8 7
♠ 9 7 2	♥ A J 8 4	♦ 10 6 5 3	♣ 2

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 ♥	Pass	1 N T	Pass
3 N T	Pass	Pass	Pass
Opening—♠ 10.

If declarer covers the spade ten with the jack and West puts on the singleton king, he will be held to two spade tricks. In addition, he has no other tricks established yet. If he plays low from dummy on the first spade, he will have no problem. He leads a club toward the queen, East wins with the ace and returns another spade. Then declarer establishes the hearts. When his last spade stopper is knocked out, he has to establish the diamond trick, but it is only reasonable to assume that the high diamond is probably in the West hand.

Thus, while containing control of all but the spade suit, North establishes the tricks he needs in the other three suits.

In addition to his Prayer Week announcement made elsewhere on this page, Pastor Earl W. Carlson calls attention to a meeting of the Chandeliers Valley Lutheran League to be held at 8:15 this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Peterson; also to a meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society of Youngville Lutheran church, to be held at the home of Miss Patty McKinney, at 7:30 p. m. Stamp News MARSHAL TITO, members of his partisan army and a liberated city are pictured on a new 12-stamp set of Yugoslavia's "democratic federation," just arrived in this country. Ranging in value from 0.50 to 20 dinars, the stamps include two values picturing "Jacobina," a woman partisan with rifle flag with the red star prominently displayed floats behind her. Other designs show two partisan riflemen crouched on a mountainside, a group of soldiers carrying their packs over rugged country and the ruins of an unidentified city with the date "Nov. 29, 1943," when it was liberated. Two values feature Tito's portrait.

Demand for United States stamps ranged from "good" to "extremely strong" Sept. 1, Editor Hugh M. Clark reports in the 1946 Scott's Catalogue of United States Stamps Specialized, just published. Mr. Clark gives top rating of "extremely strong" to the demand for 19th century used postage "gems" or outstanding items.

First day cover collectors may be surprised to learn that Mr. Clark reports only a "slight" demand for such items. Unused commemorative command and "very strong" demand for "gems," "strong" for "choice" copies and "good" for "standard" material.

The catalogue itself is the usual thorough and accurate product that Mr. and Mrs. Clark annually turn out. Every field of United States stamp collecting except pre-canceled is covered, including U.S. issues for the Philippines, Canal Zone, Cuba, Guam and Puerto Rico. Latest listings include the one-cent Roosevelt memorial

BRADFORD OWLS INVAD BEATY HARDWOOD HERE TONIGHT

Dragon Five Set For Hearty Battle at 8:30; Bracemen Also Boast Unbeaten String

The Dragon basketball team and its coach cocked their sights today for Bradford's Owls, whom they meet this evening at 8:30 on the Beatty school hardwood in the ninth encounter of the season for the locals. A win tonight over the Bracemen would be the first for the Owls in over Bradford since 1941.

Some 800 to 900 basketball enthusiasts are expected to jam the local gymnasium tonight to watch two of the state's highly publicized scholastic combats go at it "tooth-and-nail." A standing-room only call will probably be issued early in the evening, and in all probability the doors will be closed before the main game gets under way.

Height vs. accuracy will be the question to be arbitrated this evening. Five six-footers wearing the colors of the Blue and White will battle it out for a full 32 minutes accurate quintet from Bradford. What the Owls will be lacking in the height department will be made up in their ability to hit the hoop with an uncanny accuracy.

Owl mentor Harold Brace will center his hopes upon small Bob Healy, leading point-getter for the Red and Black machine, and big Don Frampton, who starred on the football field also. Both are potent scorers, and Healy is a deadly shot from any spot on the floor. Although small, Healy makes up for that disadvantage with his speed and ball-handling skill. Frampton, on the other hand, stands at about 6 ft. 2 in. and he too, can put the ball through the hoop in the pinches.

Pairing off at the forward posts with Healy will be Bim Colligan; Frampton at center; and "Red" Morris and Don Wright at the guard slots.

Dragon Joseph Massa will send his most potent lineup into the fray. Jack Eaton, the towering center and leading point-getter, will open at the tip-off spot; Al Babcock and Dick Harris will pair off at the forwards; and Ray Reed and Neil Simmons will command the guard posts. Gail Nelson, a freshman, and Tony Vescio are slated for action, too.

Neither team has faced defeat to date this season. The Owlsmen have four wins in their book over DuBois, Falconer, Farrell, and an Alumni outfit. The Dragons have downed both Jamestown and Corry twice and walloped Youngsville, St. Marys, while edging the Servicemen and Kane.

The second teams of the two schools will meet in an equally as important fracas at 7:30. Munson, of Erie, will officiate the main game.

Every ship has a painted mark on its hull showing how low in the water she can be permitted to sink safely when loaded.

SINGLES TOURNAMENT OPENS AT PENN CENTER FEB 3

The Warren county singles tournament will open at the Penn Bowling Center Sunday, February 3 and will run for four consecutive Sundays, according to an announcement today by "Lefty" Clark, Penn manager and owner.

Early entrants will receive choice of time, and each bowler will bowl four games each Sunday. The tournament is a handicap match.

Nelson Scores 16 Points In Garden

Dean Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson, 13 Parker street, dropped seven field goals and two foul points through the hoop last night to tally sixteen points for his Westminster College mates in their 76-48 romp over St. Francis of Brooklyn in Madison Square Garden last night.

Nelson was forced out in the game mid-way in the fourth quarter on five personal fouls. In a game with Akron earlier in the week, Nelson tallied 14 points, to jump his week's total to 30.

In the nightcap of last night's game, Wyoming's Cowboys dumped LIU, 37-42, after the easterners had taken an early lead.

Waterfield Is Most Valuable In Pro Loop

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(P)—Rookie Bob Waterfield, brilliant quarterback of the championship Cleveland Rams, today was named the most valuable player in the National Football League last season. Waterfield, triple-threat star from U. C. L. A., received 65 of a possible 85 points in a ballot of 17 sports writers to become the seventh recipient of the league's Joe E. Carr award. Five points were awarded for first place and two for second.

Second in the poll with 27 points was halfback Steve Van Buren of Philadelphia, the league's ground-gaining champion. Four other players received votes. Veteran end Don Houston of Green Bay, only two-time winner of the award, was third with 14 points, followed by quarterback Sammy Baugh of Washington, with none. A halfback Steve Bazarus, also of Washington, and guard Riley Matheson of Cleveland, each with two points.

Chicago Baseball Offices Close; Move To Cincinnati

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(P)—The Chicago office of baseball commissioner Kenesaw T. Landis was named to the newly created job, is closed.

All baseball records and commissioner's files have been sent to Cincinnati, where new offices were opened by Commissioner A. B. Chandler after his appointment several months ago.

Sylvania Upsets Struthers, 39-38, To Tie First Place; O'Connors Wallop Blomquists

The City Basketball League was deadlocked in a tie today following the season's biggest upset last night on the local hardwood.

With Captain Grunswieg, former Niagara U. performer, hitting consistently at the charity line, the Sylvaniaans knocked Struthers from the league's unbeaten rank, 39-38, to send the league into a deadlock between Sylvania and Struthers.

No two teams could have been more evenly matched as Sylvania and Struthers were last night before a fairly good crowd. Neither team could garner sufficient points to make a comfortable lead. The largest margin was the Wellmen's 36-32 lead late in the final canto, "Think" Wolfe and Art McKeehan, the "Gold Dust" twins who hit pay dirt for the Warren Dragons of 1937-38 and were just recently brought together since the start of the war, kept Struthers in the game at the crucial moments with their cleverness, speed, and uncanny accuracy.

For the Sylvaniaans, it was Grunswieg at the foul line and Louis Vizza popping from out around the foul circle. Grunswieg was at the charity depot 11 times during the game and made perfect eight tries.

Struthers, minus the services of "Elmo" Wolfe, moved out in front at the first period mark on a 10-8 lead, but Sylvania came back in the second quarter to outpoint the Wellmen, 10-9, and cut the losers' half-time margin to 19-18. For the entire third period it was nip-and-tuck battle. Both teams scored 10 markers, and Struthers still led, 29-28, going into the final stanza.

Struthers popped away. McKeehan and Wolfe each collecting a goal, and moved ahead, 32-29. A foul shot for the victors made it 32-30, but the Wellmen moved right back to increase their margin to 36-32.

With only a matter of seconds remaining, Sylvania went ahead 38-36, but again Struthers came back to tie it up. Grunswieg went in for a shot, was fouled, and made the winning three-point toss in the last four seconds. His consistency at the foul line was almost wholly responsible for the Green and White win.

In the preliminary, Blomquists dropped their sixth straight, a 38-23 decision to the O'Connors of Sheffield. The North Warren representatives kept in the ball game and were a definite threat throughout the first half. A very bad fourth quarter for the locals gave the O'Connors their fourth win and a third-place berth in the standings.

Tomorrow night, Penn Bottle of Sheffield gets its chance to send the league race into a three-way tie by defeating Youngville, and the Times-Mirror outfit, unless in its five encounters, hopes to upset Blakers.

Top man on the American team presumably will be Frank Parker, national champion for the past two years but scarcely one of the great champions.

Leading candidate for the No. 2 spot on the team must be Billy Talbot, whom Parker has licked in the finals twice running.

Scholastic—Tonight BRADFORD AT WARREN. Cranberry at Franklin. Meadville at Erie Academy. Jamestown at Falconer. St. Marys at Johnsonburg. Kane at Ridgway. St. Vincent at Titusville. DuBois at Brookville. Corry at Erie East. Sheffield at Wilcox. Rocky Grove at Oil City. Emporium at Renovo. Tidoute vs. Russell at W.H.S. Tionesta at Sugar Grove. Ludlow at Smethport.

BEAU JACK FAVORED

New York, Jan. 4.—(P)—Beau Jack is topheavy 1 to 5 favorite to whip Morris Reiff tonight in the first boxing show of the new year at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of around 15,000 is expected to pay close to $70,000 to watch the fray. Last year promoter Mike Jacobs drew a record gross of $2,263,259 at 43 Garden shows.
